

Almighty God checked in today, with your first morning breath.

Making no sound He paused to grant you another day to accept His love.

Each day He paused to let you know how much He loves you so.

Now turn to him and let him know how much you love Him so.